What I behold is

     enough
of grace.  The customary days blur. We

          net the after-

     glow becoming us.